Oula Fuel Marketing concludes First Aid Workshop

Oula Fuel Marketing Company announced the conclusion of its training workshop entitled "First Aid Basics" that was organized by the Training & Administrative Affairs Department. The training was held at the company's headquarters in the Kuwait Business Town Tower from September 17-19, 2013.

The workshop, which was held in cooperation with one of the leading consultancy centers, lasted for three days and acquainted 60 station managers with the safety procedures and first aid basics required in the case of an emergency.

In accordance with the strong emphasis Oula places on maintaining public safety, and as a confirmation of the company's commitment to implementing the highest of safety standards; the workshop came in line with a series of similar training programs regularly organized by Oula for its managers and employees. Through such workshops, stations managers are provided with all the necessary information and skills to efficiently handle both humanitarian cases and emergencies that may arise during a customer's presence at any of the stations. In addition, employees are equipped with the appropriate means required to prevent or minimize any amount of human and material losses that may occur.

Upon completion of the workshop, and as proof of the stations managers' qualification and readiness to carry out first aid procedures and early intervention, Oula distributed certificates approved by the Management of Medical Emergencies. Participants also received a license from the Health Care Association, the American Heart Association and the American Hospital Management Company.

Such efforts represent Oula's genuine keenness on implementing its core strategy founded on constantly developing its products and services, along with ensuring that all health and safety standards are met in hopes of pleasing customers and maintaining the safety of citizens and station workers.

Enjoy 3 nights at Starwood hotels for 2

Burgan Bank announced yesterday that its X-Change card holders can benefit from the bank's new offer when travelling within Europe, the Middle East and Africa. Customers can book for two nights to receive a third night for free in more than 230 Starwood Hotels such as Sheraton, Le Meridien, W Hotels and many more. This offer is valid until July 31, 2014.

The X-Change card comes in seven different currencies: the US dollars, euro, British pound, Saudi riyal, UAE dirhams, Egyptian pound as well as the Filipino peso. The card, which provides its users with easy access to online shopping, ticket booking and hotel reservations, comes with a unique key feature which is the ability to capture and hold the value of the exchange rate at which the card was bought to enable customers to capitalize on their preferred currency rates and withstand future currency fluctuations.

Burgan Bank's latest promotion is part of their long term commitment to provide customers with innovative benefits that go beyond their banking needs. To find out more about Burgan Bank's X-Change card, or any of its products and services, customers can visit any of the bank's branches, or contact the call center.
