KUWAIT: The National Project for Sustainable Development hosted a graduation ceremony for participants in the ‘Thukhur Program for Leadership and Institutional Innovation’, which was held recently in cooperation with Cornell University For Security Sciences, The Naif Arab University For Security Sciences, and the Arab Police Cooperation Office. They will also discuss the various reports on Arab strategies in facing terrorism, safety, traffic, civil protection, police, defense, fighting organized crime, and cyber.industry. They will also listen to the special.

KUWAIT: Deputy Prime Minister, Minister of Interior Sheikh Mohammad Al-Khaled Al-Hamad Al-Sabah and his accompanying delegation leaving Kuwait yesterday for Morocco.

ZAIN SPONSORS LOYAC YOUTH PROGRAM FOR OVER 10 YEARS

KUWAIT: Zain, the leading telecommunications company in Kuwait, renewed its sponsorship of the LOYAC Programs for over 10 consecutive years. The programs aims at developing youth’s creativity and skills to ultimately secure the pur- pose of enriching Kuwaiti economy. During a press conference announcing the 14th ZDUCM Summer, Zain acknowledged that this program is one of the most valuable projects in the country that succeeded in raising the level of IT skills in training and coaching hundreds of students from different age groups through the use of interactive and encouraging methods of learn- ing. Waled Al-Khashti, Zain’s Corporate Communications and Relations Manager said: “We are keen to ensure that the responsibility is always towards encouraging youth innovation. We are proud to have sustained a large number of Kuwaiti students over the past years, as well as training over 900 stu- dents from different universities in the company’s different divisions and departments during 2013, while participating in the real business world environ- ment and teaching the students and encourage them to work in the private sector and the future.” Al-Khashti went on to note that Zain’s sponsorship of this program for over 10 years springs from its core belief and long-term strategy which helped in the support of young people in the real business world environment and develop their skills and capabilities within a com- munity that holds unlimited poten- tial. The company will continue to support similar programs that ensure the implementation of its various social initiatives and the agree- ment with several institutions and organizations to support notable national initiatives.

KUWAIT: Deputy Prime Minister, Minister of Interior Sheikh Mohammad Al-Khaled Al-Hamad Al-Sabah and his accompanying delegation leaving Kuwait yesterday for Morocco.

ZAIN SPONSORS LOYAC YOUTH PROGRAM FOR OVER 10 YEARS

KUWAIT: Zain, the leading telecommunications company in Kuwait, renewed its sponsorship of the LOYAC Programs for over 10 consecutive years. The programs aims at developing youth’s creativity and skills to ultimately secure the pur- pose of enriching Kuwaiti economy. During a press conference announcing the 14th ZDUCM Summer, Zain acknowledged that this program is one of the most valuable projects in the country that succeeded in raising the level of IT skills in training and coaching hundreds of students from different age groups through the use of interactive and encouraging methods of learn- ing. Waled Al-Khashti, Zain’s Corporate Communications and Relations Manager said: “We are keen to ensure that the responsibility is always towards encouraging youth innovation. We are proud to have sustained a large number of Kuwaiti students over the past years, as well as training over 900 stu- dents from different universities in the company’s different divisions and departments during 2013, while participating in the real business world environ- ment and teaching the students and encourage them to work in the private sector and the future.” Al-Khashti went on to note that Zain’s sponsorship of this program for over 10 years springs from its core belief and long-term strategy which helped in the support of young people in the real business world environment and develop their skills and capabilities within a com- munity that holds unlimited poten- tial. The company will continue to support similar programs that ensure the implementation of its various social initiatives and the agree- ment with several institutions and organizations to support notable national initiatives.

KUWAIT: Zain, the leading telecommunications company in Kuwait, renewed its sponsorship of the LOYAC Programs for over 10 consecutive years. The programs aims at developing youth’s creativity and skills to ultimately secure the pur- pose of enriching Kuwaiti economy. During a press conference announcing the 14th ZDUCM Summer, Zain acknowledged that this program is one of the most valuable projects in the country that succeeded in raising the level of IT skills in training and coaching hundreds of students from different age groups through the use of interactive and encouraging methods of learn- ing. Waled Al-Khashti, Zain’s Corporate Communications and Relations Manager said: “We are keen to ensure that the responsibility is always towards encouraging youth innovation. We are proud to have sustained a large number of Kuwaiti students over the past years, as well as training over 900 stu- dents from different universities in the company’s different divisions and departments during 2013, while participating in the real business world environ- ment and teaching the students and encourage them to work in the private sector and the future.” Al-Khashti went on to note that Zain’s sponsorship of this program for over 10 years springs from its core belief and long-term strategy which helped in the support of young people in the real business world environment and develop their skills and capabilities within a com- munity that holds unlimited poten- tial. The company will continue to support similar programs that ensure the implementation of its various social initiatives and the agree- ment with several institutions and organizations to support notable national initiatives.

KUWAIT: Zain, the leading telecommunications company in Kuwait, renewed its sponsorship of the LOYAC Programs for over 10 consecutive years. The programs aims at developing youth’s creativity and skills to ultimately secure the pur- pose of enriching Kuwaiti economy. During a press conference announcing the 14th ZDUCM Summer, Zain acknowledged that this program is one of the most valuable projects in the country that succeeded in raising the level of IT skills in training and coaching hundreds of students from different age groups through the use of interactive and encouraging methods of learn- ing. Waled Al-Khashti, Zain’s Corporate Communications and Relations Manager said: “We are keen to ensure that the responsibility is always towards encouraging youth innovation. We are proud to have sustained a large number of Kuwaiti students over the past years, as well as training over 900 stu- dents from different universities in the company’s different divisions and departments during 2013, while participating in the real business world environ- ment and teaching the students and encourage them to work in the private sector and the future.” Al-Khashti went on to note that Zain’s sponsorship of this program for over 10 years springs from its core belief and long-term strategy which helped in the support of young people in the real business world environment and develop their skills and capabilities within a com- munity that holds unlimited poten- tial. The company will continue to support similar programs that ensure the implementation of its various social initiatives and the agree- men