The growth of the Islamic economy has the ability to unlock economic opportunities and improve socio-economic stability through cross-partnerships, said Mr. Nasser Judeh, Chairman of Orient Planet Academy.

"We are convinced that taking into account the concerns of Islamic finance and looking through the window of Islamic opportunities, we can unlock economic opportunities and improve social-economic stability through cross-partnerships," added Mr. Nasser Judeh, Chairman of Orient Planet Academy.

Commenting on the theme of the forum - Innovative Partnerships for Economic Growth - and Dubai’s growing efforts to grow the principles of Islamic banking and its potential contributions to the stability of the region, President Nursultan Nazarbayev of Kazakhstan said that:

"The Islamic economy, together with economic partners, will contribute to the stability of the region and bring development of societies, are a key element towards the stability for human beings everywhere in the world," he said.

Islamic banking and the achievement made so far have paved the way for the development of the Islamic banking sector in recent years in the MENA region, where Islamic banking is emerging as a viable option for many people, especially those who are seeking alternative financial services to traditional banking. Islamic banking offers various advantages over conventional banking, such as the prohibition of interest, or riba, and the emphasis on social and ethical considerations.

In conclusion, the significance of Islamic banking and its potential contributions to the stability of the region cannot be overstated. It is a crucial component of the region's economic development and growth, and it is essential to continue to support and promote its development to ensure its continued success and growth in the future.