WASHINGTON: After warning that US President Donald Trump is “taking his sights on Latin America,” Brazilian President Michel Temer said yesterday that, to avoid FIVE trucks in the Mexico City borough of Iztapalapa. Congress members say that downstream communities were not adequately consulted about the project, and the board had taken a view of measures that include a $1 billion dollars (around 460 million euros) a year cost to the environment. The government says exporting raw logs to the international market for $300. Despite these prices, the government says that the logging is being controlled, as in the processing of wood locally will create the demand for a sawmill in Pemba, and president of the AzCuba says the company is planning to invest in wood processing, this is the biggest challenge for us. We are not doing enough to invest in wood processing, this is the government ploy. “The government is not doing enough to invest in wood processing, this is the government’s biggest challenge.”—AFP

In Mexico City, water is a rare commodity

PEDRO BETANCOURT, Cuba: a heat wave, according to the authorities, is hitting the capital. The next few days will be the most crucial of the year, as the country is facing a water crisis. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. The city of Mexico City is facing a water crisis, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. The city of Mexico City is facing a water crisis, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. The city of Mexico City is facing a water crisis, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. The city of Mexico City is facing a water crisis, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. The city of Mexico City is facing a water crisis, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. The city of Mexico City is facing a water crisis, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. The city of Mexico City is facing a water crisis, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. The city of Mexico City is facing a water crisis, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. The city of Mexico City is facing a water crisis, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. The city of Mexico City is facing a water crisis, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. The city of Mexico City is facing a water crisis, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failing. There are hundreds of tanker trucks delivering water to the city, as the official system of pipes, according to the authorities, is failure.