Young pioneers push envelope on freestyle indoor skydiving

A couple of different people and I are creating this discipline, says Maja Kuczynska.

Youths are pushing the envelope on freestyle indoor skydiving, an Olympic sport because it gained popularity, “he said. “It was ‘underground’ and very independent. In the beginning, it was very experimental, trying to find out what we could do. But eventually, we found a way to make it work.”

Maja Kuczynska, 17, makes airtime gymnastics moves during her skydiving performance inside a vertical tunnel in the Polish capital Warsaw on February 16, 2017. — AFP photos

A couple of different people and I are creating this discipline, says Maja Kuczynska.

A couple of different people and I are creating this discipline, says Maja Kuczynska.