the food we love. "

val, so as to showcase the best of the Mexican cuisine, ored as a country to have her in the Taste of Kuwait festi-

With our celebrity Chef Rangel's presence, we are hon-

Here not just to showcase food and the Mexican cuisine, " he said. "We are present and traditions. "Our participation here is a celebration of cacies from his home country such as tacos and gua-audience comprising people from various nationalities. Around the world in order to promote food and culture.

IAA Honors Managers of Advertising Departments

Gulf Programming Contest to take place in Kuwait for the second time

Six teams from GUST due to participate

University of Kuwait, Kuwait Technical College, Kuwait Arabian, Birla Institute of Science and Technology, Nourah Bint Abdulrahman University from Saudi Arabia, Birla Institute of Science and Technology, Khalifa University, and UAE University from the United Arab Emirates. Some of the universities participating to achieve in regular classrooms.

Additionally, GPC provides contestants with extracurricular projects that gives them the chance to learn in a competitive yet collaborative environment that is hard to team "Cyclon3" from American University of Kuwait. Qatar won second place, and third place was awarded to team "Travelling Salesman" from Khalifa University (UAE) won the first place, team "Kofta" from Carnegie Mellon University in Qatar won second place, and third place was awarded to team "Cyclus" from American University of Kuwait.

Mexican cuisine best of its cuisine, celebrity chef at 'Taste of Kuwait'

KUWAIT: Mexico has participated in the recently concluded 'Taste of Kuwait' food festival. The third-place event was held at the Boulevard Park in Sabah between the 10th and 11th of March, and saw participation and attendance of large numbers of food enthusiasts in Kuwait. Some of the events included a cooking contest where participants from all around the world to team "Cyclon3" from American University of Kuwait. Qatar won second place, and third place was awarded to team "Travelling Salesman" from Khalifa University (UAE) won the first place, team "Kofta" from Carnegie Mellon University in Qatar won second place, and third place was awarded to team "Cyclus" from American University of Kuwait.

This year, more teams and universities across the Gulf Region. The team 'Travelling Salesman' from Khalifa University (UAE) won the first place, team "Kofta" from Carnegie Mellon University in Qatar won second place, and third place was awarded to team "Cyclus" from American University of Kuwait.

Mexicano cocina"}

Gulf Programming Contest to take place in Kuwait for the second time

Six teams from GUST due to participate

Six teams from GUST due to participate

IAA Honors Managers of Advertising Departments

Dr Salah Al-Sharhan

Kuwait Times

SUNDAY, MARCH 19, 2017

WHAT'S ON

IAA officials pose for a group photo with managers of advertising departments of daily newspapers, weeklies and monthly magazines.

IAA - Kuwait Branch President Wald Kanafani (center) poses with managers of advertising departments of daily newspapers, weeklies and monthly magazines.

IAA - Kuwait Times.

Gulf University for Science and Technology. Dr Iqbal Al-Shammari, said "Our students continuously us opportunities to prepare for the Arab Collegiate Programming Contestuwed science area is novelty (GUST) announced that they will be hosting the seventh Gulf Programming Contest GPC, due to take place on its campus on March 22nd and 23rd. The competition, sponsored by the International Advertising Association, is a competition that is designed to offer students programming opportunities by providing a platform for the development of software solutions to real-world problems. The aim of the contest is to encourage students to participate in the Gulf University Programming Contest (GUPC), a competition for college students across the Gulf Region. The contest provides an opportunity for students to develop their programming skills and gain experience in working in a team-oriented environment.

The Gulf Programming Contest is an annual event that brings together students from across the Gulf Region to compete in the contest, which is held at the Gulf University for Science and Technology. The Gulf Programming Contest provides an opportunity for students to develop their programming skills and gain experience in working in a team-oriented environment. The contest is open to students from universities across the Gulf Region, and it is organized by the International Advertising Association (IAA).

This year, more teams and universities across the Gulf Region. The team 'Travelling Salesman' from Khalifa University (UAE) won the first place, team "Kofta" from Carnegie Mellon University in Qatar won second place, and third place was awarded to team "Cyclus" from American University of Kuwait.

Mexico cocina"}

Gulf Programming Contest to take place in Kuwait for the second time

Six teams from GUST due to participate

Six teams from GUST due to participate

IAA Honors Managers of Advertising Departments

Dr Salah Al-Sharhan

Kuwait Times