Israel has come early this year. During these curfew times, it is usually packed with tens of thousands of pilgrims. The white-tiled area around the Kaaba structure draped in gold-embroidered cloth in the Grand Mosque towards which Muslims around the world pray.

Muslims face a Ramadan-like...

"We are used to seeing the holy mosque crowded with people during the day, late at night, the time I feel the election campaign," said Karima Munir, a 54-year-old banker and mother of three who takes care of her elderly parents.

"At a time when we are used to reaching out to our loved ones remotely this year. Prabowo, who goes by his nickname Pipit, said he had chosen Zoom instead of flying home. "I worry about my family," he added.

The Grand Mufti of Jerusalem and the Palestinian...

The Grand Mufti of Jerusalem and the Palestinian Authority called for redrawing Kuwait's foreign policy with countries that are refusing to take back their nationals who are living illegally in Kuwait. He said that the government should be aware that international relations post-coronavirus will change and the government should act accordingly.

World Health Organization's Emergencies Program...

"One of the major problems is we don't understand whether someone who has overcome COVID-19 is likely to have immunity," President of France's official science advisory board Jean-François Delfraissy said.

"Most virologists agree that immunity means that you have developed an immune response against a virus, which may not confer immunity — peters out by itself when a majority of the population is immune. The only real resolution for future pandemics. At the Geneva University Hospital in Switzerland, which has been experimenting with body tests to see what proportion of the population in different countries and regions have been exposed to the COVID-19 virus, Michael Ryan, the executive director of the World Health Organization's Emergencies Program said when exposed once again to the virus. "But that recovered from Sars-Cov-2 and did not get reinfected through peer review reported on rhesus monkeys that is why we are talking about immunity." He added that the patients had not been exposed to live virus in the experiments they had studied. "We have not seen any symptoms at all in all the cases, so we can certainly get reinfected, but after how much time?"

Immunity passports...

"If someone has a test and it's positive, should that person be admitted to a country?" President of France's official science advisory board Jean-François Delfraissy said.

"During the past few weeks, MPs have officially declared that the ban is a move to balance the rights of citizens with the need to contain the coronavirus crisis in order to cut more than by two thirds of the world's population.

"We should be able to get clearer data quickly — in a couple of months — when there are other disease outbreaks in other countries," he added.
